Monday: Steve Mariotti, NFTE

Who doesn't love a great entrepreneurship story? As an added bonus, @Steve Mariotti's story is about innovation and equity in education.

While teaching for six and a half years, Steve gained insight into how to successfully motivate his toughest students—teaching them how to run a business. His perceptions and learnings inspired him to create the @Network for Teaching Entrepreneurship (NFTE), a global educational nonprofit focused on bringing the power of entrepreneurship to youth in low-income communities.

Thursday: Walter Cronkite Award: Steve Mariotti

Legendary broadcaster Walter Cronkite announced a global call-to-action challenging people to a new kind of engaged activism, to be a force for positive change in the world. "By connecting Wall Street execs to kids on the street, @Steve Mariotti is responding to this call to action campaign," said Marianne Larned, author and founder of Stone Soup Leadership Institute. In the words of Cronkite, we celebrate champions like Steve who "are forging new directions for the global economy, bridging the gap between the haves and have nots and striving to build a more peaceful world."
